Nancy Lindborg

Assistant Administrator

USAID Bureau for Democracy Conflict and Humanitarian Assistance

Assistant Administrator Nancy Lindborg brings a wealth of development and humanitarian aid insight to the Bureau for Democracy, Conflict and Humanitarian Assistance (DCHA). Nancy has spent the last 14 years as president of Mercy Corps, a non-governmental organization (NGO) that helps people in the world's toughest places turn the crises of natural disaster, poverty, and conflict into opportunities for progress. Nancy also served as co-president on the Board of Directors for the U.S. Global Leadership Campaign. She was co-chair of the National Committee on North Korea where she led efforts to advance, promote, and facilitate engagement between citizens of the United States and the Democratic People's Republic of Korea. She is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and was a member of the USAID Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid. From 2000 to 2005, she was chair of the Sphere Management Committee, an international initiative to improve the effectiveness and accountability of NGOs. From 1998 to 2002, Lindborg was the co-chair of the InterAction Disaster Response Committee. She holds a B.A and M.A. in English Literature from Stanford University and an M.A. in Public Administration from the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University.

Gregory C. Gottlieb

Senior Deputy Assistant Administrator USAID Bureau for Food Security

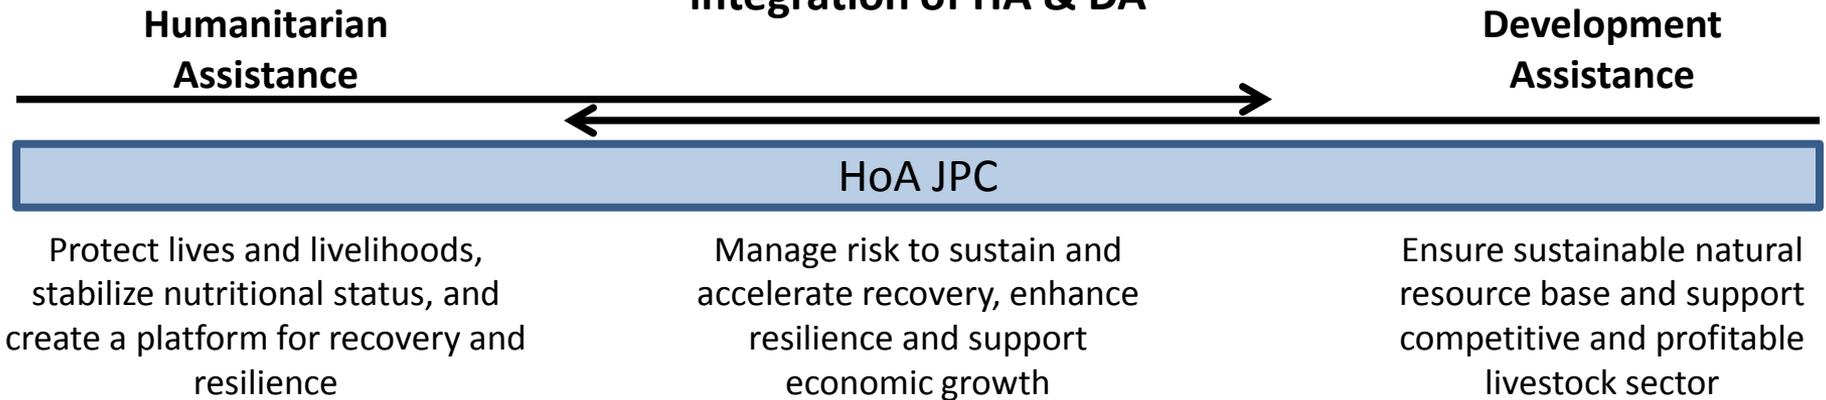

Gregory C. Gottlieb was named Senior Deputy Assistant Administrator for the USAID Bureau for Food Security in November 2010, where he oversees development activities associated with Feed the Future, the U.S. Government's global hunger and food security initiative. He most recently served as the Mission Director in Namibia since August 2008. Prior to his assignment to Namibia, he served as Senior Deputy Assistant Administrator of USAID's Bureau for Democracy, Conflict and Humanitarian Assistance. He has more than 25 years of experience with the U.S. government, NGOs, and the UN, primarily in the field of humanitarian relief. He began his USAID career in 1988 as the Disaster Response Coordinator in Malawi, subsequently serving in Sudan, Ethiopia and Kenya. In 1999 he established the first regional USAID Office of U.S. Foreign Disaster Assistance in Africa while serving as the Senior Regional Advisor in Kenya. Much of his work has focused on improving disaster assistance as well as humanitarian and transition programs in order to ensure economic recovery. He has also served as a protection officer for UNHCR and as Chief of Party of the USAID-funded Famine Early Warning System. He obtained his Bachelors' Degree from Humboldt State University in California, a Juris Doctor from Loyola Law School, and a Master's Degree from Harvard University's Kennedy School of Government.

WHAT IS NEW: Relief & Development Nexus

JPC investments will link risk, resilience, growth and governance efforts through strategic integration of HA & DA

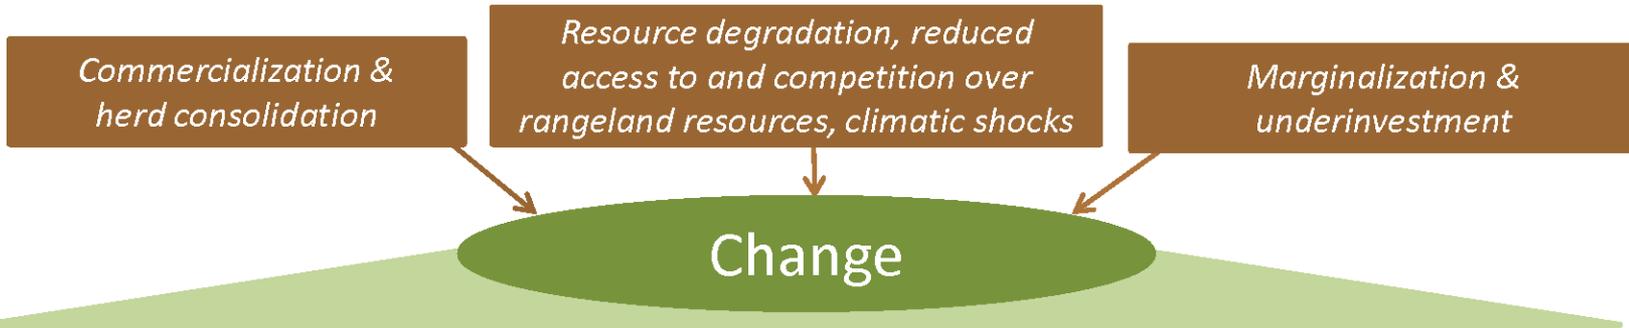

Risk – Resilience – Growth

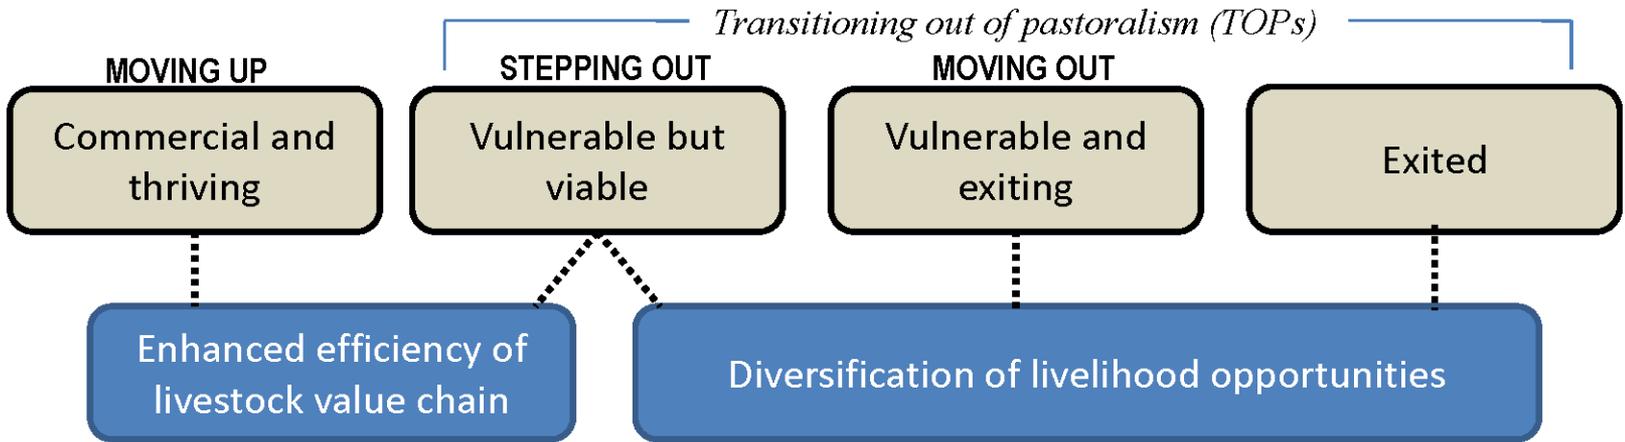

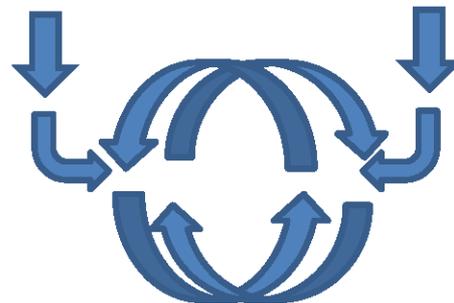

Long-term Trends
impacting viability of pastoralist livelihoods

Outcomes
by sub-group (current status of population)

Strategic Interventions
(2012 to 2017)

Thriving Drylands Economy

New & Leveraged programs will focus on Risk, Resilience, Growth & Governance

Reducing Risk:

Minimizing household, community and system vulnerability to the impacts of drought and other hazards through rapid livelihoods preserving interventions, wise management of land and the environment, and improved preparedness for adverse events.

Enhancing Resilience:

Improving the ability of households, communities and systems to manage through drought and other hazards, by reducing risk, transferring risk, increasing access to health and education, and diversifying assets and livelihoods.

Increasing Economic Growth:

Improving productive capacity by developing well-functioning markets, enhancing access to productive activities, and strengthening enabling policies and institutions.

Promoting Good Governance:

Promoting effectiveness, transparency, accountability, and participation in government and non-government institutions at community, local, national and regional levels.

Jeff Hill

Director of Policy

USAID Bureau for Food Security

Jeff Hill has many years of experience in African agricultural development and currently serves in USAID's recently created Bureau for Food Security (BFS). He started his career as a Peace Corps volunteer in Sierra Leone and later served as Associate Peace Corps Director in that country. Prior to USAID, he worked for the World Bank for 10 years in Tanzania and Nigeria. At USAID he has been a team leader for a number of agriculture and food security initiatives for the Africa Bureau and now for BFS. He presently works on Feed the Future initiatives, and prior to that worked on many programs that promoted agricultural growth and built on African-led partnerships to cut hunger and poverty. He has designed, led, and managed a variety of teams on research, private sector development, trade, capacity building and policy. He currently chairs the Donor Development Partners CAADP group and process -- a group of 32 donors worldwide dedicated to African agricultural development. He holds a BS from Weber State University in Utah in public administration and an MS from UC Davis in agricultural economics and agronomy.

Regional and Country Investment Programs

IGAD, with close assistance from development partners, will assist countries to achieve the following outcomes:

- A Regional Investment Program covering regional level investments for the development of the ASALs, livestock and pastoralism. This will be developed within the context of the Regional CAADP Compact and which is complementary to the above Country Investment Programs.
- Country Investment Programs owned by the respective countries focusing on ASALs development within the context of the National CAADP Compacts and National Agricultural Investment Plans (NAIPs).

Initial joint efforts will focus on Ethiopia, Kenya and Uganda on the basis of their requests to the World Bank for assistance in this area. Country coverage may be expanded as other countries and partners request support from IGAD or any of the other participating development partners
